

REBEKAH MAXNER

Rebekah Maxner is a well-respected Canadian composer whose piano solos are listed and published in all major Canadian conservatories (including RCM), as well as the London College of Music Examinations in London, England (LCM). Rebekah maintains an independent piano studio in Hantsport, Nova Scotia, where she lives with her husband and three growing children. She attended Acadia University ('95) where she studied piano with John Hansen, and completed her music degree with a major in composition under Owen Stephens. A member of the NSRMTA and Red Leaf Pianoworks, Rebekah is an active member of our Canadian music community as a clinician and adjudicator. In 2019 she launched her Piano at Play blog and has built a worldwide audience. She writes about piano pedagogy, piano studio business, keeping piano lessons fun and piano music. Don't miss a post!
